

Recent publications

of the International Institute for Labour Studies

Website: <http://www.ilo.org/inst>

Recently published

Blunting neoliberalism: Tripartism and economic reforms in the developing world (2010)

Edited by L. Fraile

Making migration a development factor: The case of North and West Africa

by S. Tobin, E. McGirr (with A. Alba-Ramirez, Universidad Carlos III of Madrid)

World of Work Report 2009: the Global Jobs Crisis and Beyond

International Institute for Labour Studies

Recent Policy briefs

Promoting employment recovery while meeting fiscal goals -

International Institute for Labour Studies

Recent Discussion papers

Youth Employment in Crisis, No. 201 (2010)

by B-J. Ha, C. McInerney, S. Tobin, R. Torres

International Labour Review

No. 1/2010 (March)

Socio-economic differences in the perceived quality of high and low-paid jobs in Europe

by K. Pouliakas and I. Theodossiou

Consequences of job insecurity for employees: The moderator role of job dependence

by B. Sora, A. Caballer and J.M. Peirò

Is Asia adopting flexicurity?

by P. Vandenberg

The cost of “doing business” and labour regulation: The case of South Africa

by P. Benjamin, H. Bhorat and H. Cheadle

No. 4/2009 (December)

Special issue: Low-wage work in Europe and the United States

Introduction

by P. Osterman

Low wage work in five European countries and the United States

by G. Bosch

Working in the boundary between market and flexicurity:

Housekeeping in Danish hotels

by T. Eriksson

High relative wages and high work intensity:

The French food-processing model in international perspective

by E. Caroli, J. Gautié and A. Lamanthe

Job quality in German call centres,

by C. Weinkopf

Retail jobs in the Netherlands low pay in a context of long-term wage moderation

by M. van Klaveren, W. Salverda and K. Tijdens

Can more inclusive wage-setting institutions improve low-wage work?

Pay trends in the United Kingdom’s public sector hospitals

by D. Grimshaw